GRAYLING SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 6TH

As the doors of the Grayling Public Schools swing open next Tuesday, September 6th, it is well worth while for the people of the community to pause, make an estimate of the situation, orient their thinking, and realize the worthwhile objectives of our educational effort.

During the past two years much thought has been placed on the cost of education with the result that salaries have been somewhat reduced, prices on school supplies have dropped, ped, and great care has been exercised in the purchase of equipment. Locally the vote tax has been cut in two during the past five years; the faculty will be reduced 25% from its last year's strength in numbers. So much has been written, so much has been talked on the cost side of education that it seems that we are in danger of forgetting the worthwhile objectives of our educational institutions.

Occasionally it pays the professional educator to ask himself just how important are our schools anyway, what excuse do they have for existence at public expense? The writer knows of no better method of approaching the problem than by asking the question, "What is our greatest national asset?" Right here in Grayling we would get many different answers. The physician says that our health institutions, our hospitals, our clinics are our greatest asset because without health what would all else amount to. The teacher answers that our great universities, our colleges, and the schools are our greatest asset for an ignorant people cannot enjoy our American life. The manufacturer wants to know what we would do without our shops, our factories and industrial plants? What would we do without trade and the large trade centers, such as New York, Chicago and Detroit? The farmer answers that the farms are our greatest national asset for without them there would be no food. Each has answered sincerely according to the interest that is nearest his heart. Each is of vital importance, but the question is still unanswered.

What is it that binds all these and many more interests together; that binds forty-eight states in one national government? The answer is short, our national character. Our national character is the sum total of our individual characters. Here then is the only excuse for the existence of our schools. Does the school in Grayling contribute something worth while to the development of the character of each child? If so it is a worth while concern, if not, no matter how well it may teach arithmetic, it is falling short of its opportunity.

With Tuesday as the opening day the following teachers will be found in their places:

Gerald Poor, Traverse City—Principal.

300 HEAR TAFT MEMORIAL TALKS

GRAYLING WELL REPRESENTED AT PRUDENVILLE MEET.

About 20 representative citizens of Grayling attended the meeting held in interest of the Taft Memorial Highway association at Johnson's Rustic Tavern at Houghton Lake Monday evening.

Serg. Alvin G. York, Tennessee World War hero, was the principal speaker at the banquet. About 300 attended the affair.

York is vice-president of the association which is boosting a paved highway from Mackinaw City to Port Myers, Florida. Through Michigan the road will follow the route of US-24 from Mackinaw City to Lansing, US-127 from Jackson to the Ohio state line. Thence almost in a straight line the proposed highway runs through Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Frank Holden, Cincinnati, executive vice-president of the association, introduced the delegations from the various states attending the banquet and those from the cities in Michigan along the route of the road.

Unqualified support for the project was promised by Fred F. Ming, Cheboygan, speaker of the state house of representatives and Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, two of the principal speakers. Other talks were given by Frank R. Johnson, president of the Houghton Lake chamber of commerce under whose auspices the gathering was held, and W. C. Smith, Roscommon county prosecuting attorney.

Delegates at the banquet who spoke included: W. A. Bahlke, Alma city attorney; W. L. Park, Clare; Miss Hattie Hardy, Albany, Ga.; Judge J. N. McDonald, Byrdstown, Tenn.; Warren J. McLaughlin, Lima, O.; and F. Carl Holbrook, Clare.

L. N. L. CONVENTION SEPT. 14-15-16

The 31st annual convention of the Ladies National League and the National League of Veterans and Sons will convene at Grayling, Mich., Sept. 14, 15, and 16, 1932 in the L. O. O. F. hall.

It is expected there will be between seventy-five and eighty national officers and delegates present. The national president, Mary LaFay, of Bay City, Mable Girardot, also of Bay City, and Lora Villeneuve of Flint will be in Grayling, also other national officers and delegates from Saginaw, Flint, Bay City, Detroit, Pontiac, and Brighton.

On the evening of Sept. 15, there will be a camp fire to which the public is invited, followed by an old fashioned Colonial ball. It is requested that every one come in colonial costume.

TWO PEOPLE DROWN IN HOUGHTON LAKE

Summer resort activities in this vicinity were again marred last week with a sad drowning at Houghton Lake Friday afternoon, in which Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bell Jr. of Chicago lost their lives. They, in company with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Forney, also of Chicago, were vacationing at the lake, occupying a cottage at Johnson's Rustic Tavern Resort. They left the cottage during the forenoon for a fishing trip up the lake, using a large row boat equipped with an outboard motor. Finding the lake exceedingly rough they followed the south shore to Denton point and then attempted to cross the lake toward the "Cut" when the boat was caught in a trough and capsized, throwing all four into the water.

Mr. Forney made several heroic attempts to rescue the party and at one time all four were clinging to the boat but the high seas rolled the boat around and they lost their hold. Twice Mr. Forney brought the women back to the boat but they slipped off and while he was helping his wife, Mr. Bell sank and before Forney could reach Mrs. Bell, she likewise disappeared. Mr. Forney and wife succeeded in clinging to the boat for perhaps two and a half hours during which they drifted toward Prudenville when their cries for help attracted the attention of the man at Johnson's boat house and he effected their rescue.

A searching party of residents around the lake and State Police, led by Roy Carr of Houghton Lake, succeeded in finding the body of Mrs. Bell early Saturday morning but not until Monday forenoon was the body of her husband recovered. The remains were taken to Chicago for burial.—Roscommon Herald-News.

MUST "KEEP THEIR SHIRT ON"

"Keep your shirt on!" Michigan State park superintendents are telling the bathers, and so the men are wearing both pieces of the two-piece bathing suits and the women are taking their sun baths on the wide sandy beaches with both straps fastened snugly over their shoulders. The "shirt" ruling, officials explain, doesn't mean that bathers at the state parks are required to wear the blouses and skirted bathing suits of the gay '90's. On the contrary, they do not drown upon the more ultra of the 1932 costumes for bathers. But those who patrol the park beaches do require that the men wear shirts as well as trunks and that the women who insist on a sun bath, keep the shoulder straps up.

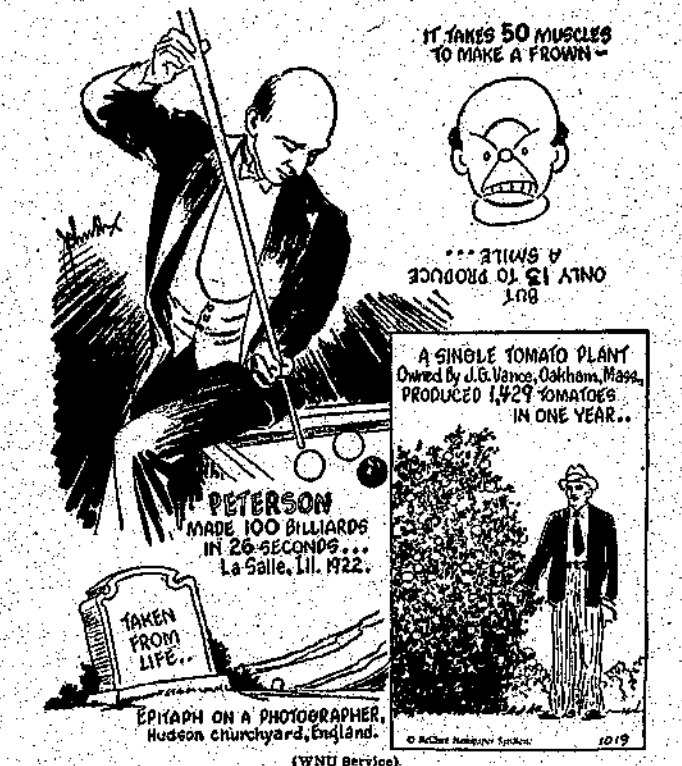

Complaints from several of the parks concerning shirtless and strapless bathers caused state park officials to consult operators of other public bathing beaches. They found that in Michigan at least, the shirt and strap are necessary accoutrements of every bather. As a result the state park superintendents are sticking by the general ruling.

MEMORIES OF THE NORTHLAND

By H. P. Olson, Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27, 1932

Mr. O. P. Schumann,
Dear Sir:
I note with interest account of your canoe carnival on the AuSable.

Of special interest is to me who has now for over forty years traveled up and down this beautiful stream. I knew the AuSable, the East Branch, North and South Branches as a boy when the great pines of the north lined its banks. Their branches often interlocked above the waters.

The AuSable of those days is gone forever but it is still a wonderful stream and with the aid of the people who live on its banks or have their summer homes there it will be one of the enjoyable recreation spots of the north. Only about six hours from Detroit by auto or two hours by plane.

I would urge you lovers of the AuSable to watch your fires first of all and second allow the stream to remain as natural as possible—let the trees fall into it without chopping them out. That is Nature's way of providing pools and ripples for the fish and also providing them with food from the flies and bugs that fall from those trees. Do not cut out the banks or clear up the land along the shores; let the trees and shrubs help to keep the waters cool and swift—the natural waters for the trout, now that the grayling are gone.

I have enjoyed the acquaintance of the great guides of the past—Rube and Walt Babbitt, the Stephan boys, the Wakeleys, Goodars, the Pinos, and many others.

I sold trout to the Babbitts for the Chicago Fair in the early '90's for ten cents apiece. These trout were caught at Wakeley's and kept alive in a live box. My outfit was a heavy horse blanket for a tent, another for a bed, a slab of bacon and a few loaves of bread and plenty of fish—both trout and grayling. My tackle consisted of about six flies, very carefully taken care of, and when a big fish broke one of those precious flies it was too bad. For wading I used a pair of old overalls and a pair of old shoes and my creel was an old grain bag tied over my shoulders.

We generally walked up stream and fished in style, had a guide and a boat and they carried their supplies with them in the boats. Before the dams came, at Mio and below, a great number of people used to run all the way to AuSable by boat. Of course the dams have taken away much of the beauty of that trip but we still have from Grayling to Mio left. You people up there have a valuable asset in the AuSable and also in your lakes and streams everywhere. It will always be a vacation spot for the people of the cities and when a man goes on a vacation he generally has a few nickels to spend. A great aid to the vacation lands has been the State Conservation department and you folks who live in vacation land should always work in conjunction with your conservation officers. They have preserved your wild life—your deer and your fish. Remember every big fish and every buck taken by the outside world is your best advertisement. They have established your state and federal parks and all the points of interest in the north. They should be taken out of the hands of politicians and allowed to function without the hindrance of a bunch of petty officers with a lot of relations.

Well here is to the north and its memories which remain with us thru the rush and struggle of the years, thru the heat and dust of the cities; our thoughts stray to you and we once more hear the call of the wild, the tingle of the cold springs, the cry of the woodland bird and feel the cooling breezes which come fresh and clear over hundreds of thousands of woodland acres which never know the tread of man from one year to another. Your memories are precious Northland, and helps us over the rough spots.

VERY DELIGHTFUL BRIDGE LUNCHEON

The rooms at Wolff's Den were very charmingly arranged with a profusion of garden flowers making a very attractive setting for the luncheon bridge which was given by Mrs. H. W. Wolff for some forty-four ladies Monday afternoon.

The luncheon was served on small tables scattered through the rooms. Ten of the tables were filled for bridge following the luncheon.

Winning scores were held by Miss Margrethe Hanson, Mrs. Walter Woodson, Mrs. Holger Peterson and Mrs. Jess Schomover.

Several out of town guests were present.

Knowing that the State is being ruined by taxation, that the tourist business is being ruined and our resorts deprived of their recreation by high game and fish license imposed by our last legislature, and believing that these conditions can and should be rectified, I am offering myself as your candidate for State Senator.

Your support will be appreciated.
Horatio S. Karcher.

STATE FAIR TO OPEN SUNDAY

When bursting bombs announce the opening at 9 o'clock next Sunday morning of the Michigan State Fair and Exposition it will introduce what the management asserts is the finest show in the fair's 83 years existence.

Few Michigan state fairs have started out so auspiciously, Secretary John L. McNamara declares. Most departments are filled. In the sheep and cattle department tents will be needed to house the surplus exhibits. The art department has a record number of entries. More than the annual average of babies, 250, are entered in the Better Babies show. The grain, floriculture and horticulture departments face an overflow situation. The horse department may be smaller than last year when an all-time record was established, but the poultry and pet stock department will equal that of a year ago. Every other department reports at least a satisfactory total of exhibits.

In the other sections the interest has exceeded expectations. With four days yet to go the food exposition, the first ever held at the fair, reports 75% of its space sold. Concession space about the grounds has been contracted for at a rate greater than was looked for. Practically all similar space in the various exhibit buildings has been sold.

Operating on a sharply reduced budget the fair management has added more major attractions to this year's showing than ever before in the fair's history. The list is headed by the 100-mile world's championship automobile race on Sunday, the first ever held in Michigan and in which the country's leading drivers will compete. On Tuesday "Young Michigan's Day," 100,000 children are expected at the special program arranged in their honor. One feature is to be the "multi" show in which 2000 dogs will compete for medals and scores of other prizes.

Wednesday is being built into one of the great days of the fair. Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker will be the guest of honor. Every drum and bugle corps among war veteran organizations in the state will compete for $1000 in prizes. In the evening "Miss Michigan" will be selected from among 45 girls from all over Michigan. More than 1700 are entered in this contest. The winner is being given an automobile and an 8-day vacation trip to Washington.

Every other feature of the state fair has been retained or improved or enlarged. The horse show, especially, has been given much thought. More interest is being shown by Michigan society in this event than ever before. All boxes have been disposed of and the entries set a record. The fair has done everything to popularize the show. The "Midway" attractions this year are new and more numerous than previously.

The grandstand show is the finest yet seen at the fair. Ten acts make up the daily afternoon and evening "bill." Featuring the afternoon performance is a Wild West Rodeo. In the evening the pageant, "March On, America" with 300 performers on a 600-foot stage, will be outstanding. The night performance closes with a startling fireworks exhibit.

In all respects the forthcoming fair, to last through all next week, is expected to surpass anything in the state's history. Arrangements are being made to welcome 400,000 visitors, a new high attendance mark. Parking accommodations have been provided for 25,000 cars. With a reduced admission of 25 cents this year and a program never equalled on the state fair grounds, the anticipated attendance mark is likely to be reached.

"We are surprised at the interest in this year's fair by up-state exhibitors, especially farmers," Secretary McNamara declares. "We had feared a falling off in interest, due to conditions. On the contrary these seemingly have stimulated, rather than discouraged this interest. It has upset our calculations. On the same basis we now look for a larger up-state attendance than we had originally hoped for. We are confident this year's fair will be an outstanding success."

CHAS. A. SINK PRAISES UPPER PENINSULA

Charles A. Sink, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, recently completed a week's campaign tour in the Upper Peninsula. He hurried south in order to address a large open air audience at Marble Beach Pavilion, Coldwater, and during the course of his address, referred to his northern experiences very enthusiastically as follows:

"I have just returned from a fifteen hundred mile trip through the Upper Peninsula where I had a glorious time. I am still enthused about my trip North. I met with tremendous enthusiasm wherever I appeared."

CHARLES A. SINK

peared, on the part of political leaders, editors and the public in general. I was deeply impressed with the fine support which I received but I was doubly delighted at the wonderful resources which I found up there. Miles and miles of beautiful land with many fine modern cities and lots of medium sized towns, villages, and large areas of fertile farms. Wonderful school houses, public buildings and a spirit of cordiality most wholesome. I regret that more people in the South are not as familiar with this half of our state as they should be. I advise you that when you next take your vacation, to cross the Straits and spend as much time as possible where you will find wholesome hospitality, splendid hotels and a spirit which is most refreshing. Go from the Soo, in the East, to Marquette, Houghton, and Ironwood in the West and then southeasterly to Iron River, Iron Mountain, Menominee, Escanaba and then to St. Ignace with many wonderful intervening points. You will find the trip worth while in every way. I cannot speak too highly of everything which I found up there."

Former Senator Sink on his visit to the Northland was not a newcomer for he visited the upper peninsula many times as a member of the Finance Committee of the State Senate, of which he was a member for three sessions. He always took a great interest in affairs pertaining to the North and on his trip, many of his old time friends gave him an appreciative welcome. Mr. Sink is bound to get an almost unanimous vote for Lieutenant Governorship in these parts.

Own a Cabin on the AuSable

A summer home on the AuSable spells comfort and recreation from business and labors during idle or vacation times.

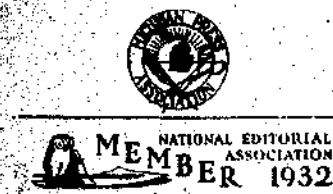

Come in and let us show you how easily you can have a cabin constructed. We can supply all materials, submit specifications and plans and look after all work of construction, just as well as if you were there to supervise the job. When finished we turn it over to you ready for use.

EVERY board, every person handling public money should publish an accounting of it.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1932

PRINTED REPORTS of public expenditures has long been advocated by the Avalanche. Every cent of the taxpayer's money should be publicly accounted for. This keeps the public informed as to whom money is paid and for what purpose and besides the publicity keeps public officials from dishonesty. Sanilac county, in the Thumb district of Michigan, might well have profited by such publicity and have saved the county from a shortage of $51,000 in the accounts of the county treasurer. If every public official handling public money was required by law to publish at least once each year a full itemized report of public expenditures, nothing like that that happened in Sanilac could take place.

WHEN a fellow comes into your place of business and asks for money with which to purchase food, we believe it is the right thing to do to ask him to do some work in return for the favor. One morning this week a fellow in a plaintive tone said he was hungry and wanted us to help him out with money. Sure, we said, we'll help you out, but you will have to do some work for it. "Work," he said. "I haven't heard that word in a long time." Reluctantly he said he would work. "Wait about 15 minutes," he said, "and I'll be back." But he never returned. Every day our business men are handing out dollars.
Sometimes to persons who are really deserving but most times to able bodied men who are just bumbling a living out of hard working business men. It's about time that something is done about it. Burrows Market, almost daily hands out meats to these fellows; Craig's Bakery gives away many loaves of bread daily; restaurants and Mercy Hospital feed many mouths daily, and so do grocery stores and, in fact, every business institution gives away valuable food or money almost every day in the week. And besides the homes of Grayling feed many beggars. As stated above, some of these are deserving but many are positively not.
It's an imposition on the people of Grayling to have to be everlasting-ly doling out to some of these pan-handlers. If a man isn't willing to do some work, then he should be refused any assistance. There is much work that could be done in town that, while it isn't vitally needed, still would do some good. Some of our streets are alive with weeds, throwing off unhealthy pollen.
There would be plenty to do if every noxious weed was cut down and it would be a blessing to those who live here. Our climate is ideal for hay fever sufferers. It could be greatly improved if systematized effort were made to rid the place of ragweeds and other noxious weeds. Let these fellows do it. If they are not willing to work, at least we can save our money. We can take care of our own needy families but why feed these travelling beggars who go from town to town looking for easy marks and living off the fruits that others have had to work hard to get?
We have no board of trade for handling such affairs nor no civic organization to whom we might appeal to take over the responsibility of handling this situation. The council can't spend money for cleaning up private weedy yards, says President C. O. McCullough but there is a law that requires the highway commissioner to have it done and if the private owner won't have it done, the Highway commissioner can order it done and the cost charged against the property owner. We believe there can be some plan devised for organizing a committee with authority to look after these itinerant beggars and thus relieve the business men and housewives of this nuisance.

OTSEGO AND PRESQUE ISLE SINK HOLES PHOTOGRAPHED

Airplane photographs recently completed of parts of Otsego and Presque Isle Counties are revealing for the first time the real semblance of some of the famous "sink-holes" to meteoric craters.

The pictures taken from the air show the landscape in the southwestern part of Presque Isle and northeastern Otsego Counties dotted with miniature circular holes, most of them filled with water and looking as though "pot-holes" had been taken at the earth from mars.

True "sink holes" however, are not craters formed by falling meteors but were formed when limestone rocks of underground caverns were cut away by water action, permitting the rock and earth above to plunge down into the cavern below, according to the Geological Survey Division of the Department of Conservation. Frequently these holes are about as large as a city block and have almost perpendicular banks. In some instances drainage was cut off by the slumped in rocks and soil and the holes have since partly filled with water.

Some of the most spectacular of the so-called "sink-holes" are located in Otsego County; one of them known as "The Devil's Soup Bowl." These are not true limestone "sinks" but are deep, pot-like depressions in the surface deposits of sand, gravel and clay. Practically all of the Otsego
"sink-holes" are filled with water and soundings have been made showing some of the holes to be almost 100 feet deep.

A few miles east of the State Forest headquarters in Presque Isle County are several dry "sink-holes" in limestone rock. In the bottom of these well-like holes, trees fifty feet high are growing, and often the tops of the trees are 30 or 40 feet below the surrounding surface level. Here and there are found extinct "sinkholes" which existed long before the great ice age as these holes are now filled with glacial drift.

One of the most famous limestone
"sinks" is known as Sunken Lake where the north branch of the Thunder Bay River disappeared into a limestone cavern. This sink is included in the Fletcher State Park in Presque Isle County.

A large sink has been discovered beneath the waters of Lake Huron. The hole is in ElCajon Bay about seven miles east of the City of Alpena. The hole contains 76 feet of water while the depth of the water immediately surrounding it is only a foot or two.
The caving in of a part of another sink, mostly concealed, can be seen in the limestone bluffs on the west side of the bay where there is a large cave several feet wide and several hundred feet in length along the bluffs.

Generally, water-filled sinks are without visible inlet or outlet and the level of the lake rises and falls with that of the ground water in the immediate vicinity. These sink-hole lakes are rapidly becoming focal points for interested tourists. Some of the water filled holes contain fish, plant life having been made by the state from time to time.

Certain parts of Alpena, Otsego, Presque Isle and other counties in the northeast section of the lower peninsula are underlain by limestone formations and it is in these areas for that reason that the sink holes are found, according to the Geological Survey Division. Surface water dissolves through this limestone, dissolving channels, along cracks and joints until it forms a cavern.

GRAYLING PEOPLE INVITED TO RACES

GAR WOOD AND KAYE DON TO RACE SATURDAY

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—General manager Fred A. Chapman of the Michigan state fair today issued a general and cordial invitation to all Michigan to come to Detroit Saturday Sunday and Monday next, to witness the three days speed events, two days given over to the world's speed boat races between Kaye Don, the Englishman and Gar Wood, the Yankee and Sunday, right in the middle of the speed tournament, the day on which the American speedway championship will be decided in a 100 mile A.A.A. sanctioned auto race. Mr. Chapman says, judging from the entries received that this auto race, carrying $5,000 in prize money and 120 points to the winner, the last sanctioned event of the year, is attracting great interest among the drivers.

There are 35 world famous drivers entered. Fourteen are to start. They will ride in the two seater cars.
"It happens that Fred Frame, Indianapolis winner, is now but 60 points ahead of Bob Carey and 70 points in front of "Howdy" Wilcox and this race," says Mr. Chapman, "will decide the 1932 champion.
Frame is having a new car built for this event."

"We are making it a gala day of speed for the fans and with the three day holiday we look for a mammoth crowd. We have made arrangements to care for 100,000 people at the race.
Tickets are now on sale at the fair office in Detroit and at the Detroit auto club and its branches through the state. Tickets are priced very low, in fact 25 cents is the admission to the infield and stand seats range from 50 cents for bleachers up to $1 for the choice reserved seats."

"Another feature that will undoubtedly draw many fans is that Kaye Don will referee the auto race and Gar Wood, his opponent will be the starter. The race starts at 3 o'clock and the trials will start at 11 o'clock Sunday morning of the race, Sept. 4."

first time the real semblance of some
of the famous "sink-holes" to meteoric craters.

The pictures taken from the air
show the landscape in the southwestern part of Presque Isle and northeastern Otsego Counties dotted with
miniature circular holes, most of them filled with water and looking
as though "pot-holes" had been taken
at the earth from mars.

True "sink holes" however, are
not craters formed by falling meteors
but were formed when limestone
rocks of underground caverns were
cut away by water action, permitting the rock and earth above to
plunge down into the cavern below,
according to the Geological Survey
Division of the Department of Conservation. Frequently these holes are
about as large as a city block and
have almost perpendicular banks. In some instances drainage was cut off
by the slumped in rocks and soil and
the holes have since partly filled
with water.

Some of the most spectacular of
the so-called "sink-holes" are located in Otsego County; one of them known as "The Devil's Soup Bowl." These
are not true limestone "sinks" but
are deep, pot-like depressions in the
surface deposits of sand, gravel and
clay. Practically all of the Otsego
"sink-holes" are filled with water and
soundings have been made showing
some of the holes to be almost 100
feet deep.

A few miles east of the State Forest headquarters in Presque Isle County are several dry "sink-holes" in limestone rock. In the bottom of these well-like holes, trees fifty feet
high are growing, and often the tops
of the trees are 30 or 40 feet below
the surrounding surface level. Here
and there are found extinct "sink-
holes" which existed long before the great ice age as these holes are now
filled with glacial drift.

One of the most famous limestone
"sinks" is known as Sunken Lake
where the north branch of the Thunder Bay River disappeared into a limestone cavern. This sink is included in the Fletcher State Park in Presque Isle County.

A large sink has been discovered beneath the waters of Lake Huron. The
hole is in ElCajon Bay about seven miles east of the City of Alpena. The
hole contains 76 feet of water while
the depth of the water immediately surrounding it is only a foot or two.
The caving in of a part of another
sink, mostly concealed, can be seen in the limestone bluffs on the west side of the bay where there is a large
cave several feet wide and several hundred feet in length along the bluffs.

Generally, water-filled sinks are
without visible inlet or outlet and
the level of the lake rises and falls
with that of the ground water in the immediate vicinity. These sink-hole
lakes are rapidly becoming focal
points for interested tourists. Some
of the water filled holes contain fish,
plant life having been made by the
state from time to time.

Certain parts of Alpena, Otsego, Presque Isle and other counties in the northeast section of the lower peninsula are underlain by limestone formations and it is in these areas for
that reason that the sink holes are found, according to the Geological Survey Division. Surface water dissolves through this limestone, dis-
solving channels, along cracks and
joints until it forms a cavern.

ARTHUR MORREAU PASSED AWAY

William Arthur Morreau, age 63 years, 7 months and 11 days old, and better known among his friends as Archie Morreau passed away at Mercy Hospital Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock after a lingering illness.
Mr. Morreau was born in Kankakee City, Ill., and had lived in Grayling for over 20 years. He was a painter and paper hanger by trade and also for years was flagman at the M. C.
R. crossing on the Lake Margrethe road.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from Sorenson's chapel and interment was in Elmwood cemetery. Surviving the deceased is his widow and a half brother, David Morreau.

Mrs. Morreau's sister, Mrs. Bennett, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merow of Detroit came to be in attendance at the funeral.

GUILD AWARDS FOUR SCHOLAR- SHIPS

Detroit, Aug. 26.—One hundred and seven boy craftsmen are enroute to their widely scattered homes today, after nearly a week of festivity at the second annual convention of the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild here.
The climax of the convention was the announcement of the four winners of $5,000 university scholarships of four years each.

These winners, Franz Blisch, of Columbus, Wis., Fred Friedrich, of Rochester, N. Y., Raymond Smith, of Lawton, Okla., and Gordon Drummond, of Washington, D. C., had the unusual experience, during the award dinner, of greeting their mothers and fathers over a nation-wide hookup, the man to introduce them to the radio audience being none other than Ployd Gibbons himself.

An official welcome from Alfred P.
Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, messages of congratulation from W. A. Fisher, president of the Guild, and from R. S. McLaughlin, president of the Canadian Guild organization, and an opportunity to meet Dan Beard, "father of the Boy Scouts," also featured the dinner. In tribute to the 32-year-old leader of boys, whose presence distinguished the convention, the entire banquet audience rose and gave loud applause.

The convention program combined education and recreation, giving the boys a chance to shine in fields other than craftsmanship, for a change.
They visited the Ford Greenfield Village which houses Thomas Edison's reconstructed shops, the General Motors Proving Ground, and many other spots of special interest. Announcement was made that the Guild's third year would open in September, and all boys between 12 and 20 were invited to enter the competition.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

Fellow Teachers:
August 27th, September 3rd and September 10th are the dates chosen for teachers to call at the Commissioner's office for supplies and for any information.

Be sure that the original or a copy of your certificate is on file in this office before you begin your school work. The commissioner becomes answerable to your district and to the Department at this time.
Get information and supplies at this office and save postage. I am planning to visit Crawford county schools during the first days of September and many questions can be answered at this time.

Let's plan to make this school year the best ever.

Yours to serve,
John W. Payne,
Comm'r. of Schools.

week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Corwin. She was accompanied from Lansing by Mr.
George Hilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bankard and Mr. Clyde Flowers returned to their homes in Detroit Saturday after spending a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lydell.

Teddy Sivrais of Cheboygan arrived Sunday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Sivrais, who accompanied him to Flint and Detroit to visit relatives this week.

Mrs. Nikolin Schlotz was hostess Monday evening at a pleasant affair in honor of Miss Anna Nelson of Grand Rapids. High scores at bridge were held by Mrs. Holger Hanson and Mrs. Jess Sales.

Mrs. Leonard Bridge (Helen Westcott) arrived from Detroit Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Marius Hanson, and Holger Hanson. Mr. Bridge joined her here Wednesday to spend a few days.

Miss Mary Watts and Mr. J. B. Lee of Detroit arrived Thursday and are guests of Miss Jane Ingle at Lake Margrethe. This makes the ninth summer that Miss Watts has sojourned at Lake Margrethe.

There will be a special meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion at the hall next Wednesday evening, Sept. 6. There are matters of importance to come before the meeting so please be present.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Holger Hanson and Mrs. Carl Sorenson entertained a company of ladies at the home of the former, complimenting Miss Anna Nelson of Grand Rapids.
Bridge was enjoyed, prizes being won by Miss Nelson and Mrs. Nikolin Schlotz.

On Thursday last, Mrs. A. J.
Joseph was hostess to thirteen ladies at luncheon. The party was given to compliment Mrs. C. T. Jerome of Pontiac. Bridge prizes were received by Mrs. Louise Conine and Mrs.
Jerome.

Mrs. James Wingard, who has been visiting in Grayling for most of the summer left for Hudson Monday to spend some time with her son William Wingard and family who reside there. The latter has a photo studio in Hudson.

All ex-service men are invited to be present at a special meeting to be held at the American Legion hall next Tuesday evening, Sept. 6th.
Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Grayling have been invited as guests and the meeting will be called at 7:30 o'clock sharp. Lunch.

Fred Alexander motored to Ann Arbor Thursday to visit Mrs. Alexander, who returned home with him on Friday. Mrs. Alexander has been a patient in the University Hospital at Ann Arbor for the past several weeks. We are glad that Mrs. Alexander is so much better, and that she can be back home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Mickelson were hosts to a few friends at dinner Thursday evening for Miss Lou Mason of Detroit who is their house

Alexander, Mr. Wilhelm Rasm, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hanson, Mrs. Herbert Wolf, Mrs. Halford Kittleman, Mrs.
C. T. Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. Ben
Jerome.

Grayling American Legion Post No.
106 held their annual election of officers Monday night for the ensuing year. Otto Failing was elected post commander to succeed Alfred Hanson and the remaining officers are filled by the following: Neil Matthews vice commander; Frank Decker, adjutant; Wilfred Laurant, finance officer; Emil Giegling, chaplain; Andrew Jensen sergeant-at-arms.

There is a permanent registration being carried on in other cities, but this effects communities of over 5000 population, only. Carl Sorenson, township clerk, has had many requests from parties already registered, is the reason this is mentioned.
However any newly qualified voter may register any time up to Saturday night at the Sorenson bar/par shop.

Mrs. John Green, mother of Jess Green of Roscommon and well known to many in Grayling, passed away at her home Tuesday night after an illness of several months duration.
She had been a patient at Grayling Mercy Hospital for several months, but the nature of her illness was such that it was incurable and she gradually went into decline. Mrs. Green organized Grayling's American Legion Auxiliary and was a member for several years before an Auxiliary had been formed in Roscommon and at her death was president of the latter organization.
She was also a member of the Roscommon Eastern Star. Mrs. Green always had a cheery word and smile for everyone and her friends were without number. The funeral is being held this afternoon in Roscom-mon.

Leo Udell of Gaylord is in Mercy Hospital receiving medical treatment.

Ed Cooper of Lansing is visiting at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McLeod, at Birchwood Lodge.

William Powell returned from Detroit Wednesday evening after spending a few days there.

DeVore Dawson, Norman Dawson and Harry Weiss spent Sunday at the Soo, Mackinaw City and Canada.

Mrs. Hansine Hanson and daughters Misses Ingeborg and Mildred, drove to Mancelona Sunday and visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Darrock of Royal Oak are spending several weeks visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaVack.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fogelsonger and family of Flint have been visiting Mrs. Fogelsonger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul LaBrash.

Henry Schneider of Grand Rapids was in Grayling on business yesterday and while here was a guest of Fred R. Welsh at Lake Margrethe.

Misses Margrethe and Olga Nelson and Mrs. Axel Nelson and children drove to Cadillac yesterday, accompanying Miss Anna Nelson that far on her way to Grand Rapids.

Enos Anderson is offering plums at 50c per bushel at his farm, located near the Beaver Creek school.
They are the Burbank variety. Come and get them.

Grayling Golf Club tournament is in full swing this week. Last week was given over to qualifying and the preliminaries have been played. Next Sunday the finals will take place.

The Hickock Oil Company of Toledo has purchased the Ambrose McClain corner on US-27 and will start raising the building Tuesday.
In its place a new Hi-Speed Oil station will be erected with Leo Schram as manager.

Buy Crawford county potatoes.
Fine varieties are raised in this county, and farmers will be glad to supply your needs. Ask for Crawford County potatoes at your grocer's and when a truck comes to your door insist on the same kind.

Paul Emory Coon, age 16 years, and son of Mr. and Mrs. George H.
Coon of Houghton Lake, passed away at Grayling Mercy Hospital Saturday night. The lad was brought to the hospital seriously ill, and passed away following an appendix operation.

Members of the Paul LaBrash family gave an enjoyable party in honor of the birthday anniversary of their mother, Sunday evening. Besides the family there were many old friends present. It was in the form of a surprise and everyone had a pleasant time.

Misses Margrethe and Ella Hanson entertained at a delightful bridge party Wednesday afternoon at Lake Margrethe in honor of Mrs. Oscar Wilkinson of Chicago. The high score was held by Mrs. Harold Mc-Neven and Mrs. Wilkinson received the guest prize.

Miss Emily Engel, daughter of Mrs. August Engel, was married to William Miller, son of Mrs. Earl Whipple, on Sunday, August 21st, at Clare, Michigan. The young couple are making their home in Lansing, and their many Grayling friends wish them lots of luck.

V. E. Meyer of Toledo caught an unusual looking trout last week in AnSable river and brought it to Grayling Hatchery, where it was designated as a "Highbred" or (Hilbred), a cross between a brook trout and brown trout. They are said to be quite a rare fish.

Mrs. C. H. Christenson of Chicago returned to her home Tuesday after being a guest for the week of her aunt, Mrs. Adler Jorgenson. Mrs.
Christenson was formerly Elsie Erickson and her marriage occurred in June. Friday evening some of her Grayling friends arranged a miscellaneous shower in her honor at the home of her aunt, which was a very enjoyable affair.

Bud Is Making Good

John (Bud) Clancy, a recruit from Jersey City, has been playing first base regularly with the Brooklyn Dodgers and has proved his right to be considered a big leaguer. He is a southpaw both in the field and at bat.

The Log Office Says

Interpreting bits of news and comment about Northeastern Michigan gathered by the E. M. T. A.

E. J. Leenhouts, general agricultural agent of the New York Central lines located at Rochester, New York, after a pleasure-business trip through East Michigan says this in a letter to the East Michigan Tourist association: "On a trip through northern Michigan, stopping at almost every town in your territory along the Michigan Central Railroad for a few hours, I found the sentiment rather hopeful and in some places very satisfactory. On the whole, it was my impression the tourist business has been more regenerative than almost any other line of business and that your organization has played its usual effective part."

R. C. Dewalt, auditor of the Cleveland Automobile Club and associated with the Ohio Motorist magazine, vacationed in this territory within the last month. He called at the office of the E.M.T.A. and asked in all seriousness if there was in eastern Michigan any other place even remotely like Kenyon's Resort at Sage Lake. He and his companion were enthusiastic over Kenyon's, praised the location, the service and the food. In fact, it could be easily gathered that he had had a first rate time.

It then became our pleasure to inform Mr. Dewalt that while no two resorts are exactly alike, there are many places in Michigan, that offer every advantage for vacation enjoyment.

You can bet that this man and his companion will go back to Cleveland and boost Michigan for a far three well.

Fred Walker, editor of the Union-ville paper, has been putting out his paper in the same location for more than 40 years. He says that times are a great deal better in Unionville than they were 40 years ago.
Also, concerning Fred Walker—

Needling some ready cash he sent a letter to his subscribers telling them of his need. The mails brought him hundreds of dollars.
Well, my comment is that it isn't such a tough world, after all.

A few resorters have notified us of their closing dates and a few have notified us of their reduced rates after Labor Day. What about the rest of the E.M.T.A. members? !

The Annual Meeting.
This year Thursday, October 6, and as usual afternoon and evening—perhaps a morning session. Plans are not completed, but it is expected that the evening meeting and dinner will draw even a larger number than last year when the guests filled the ballroom and overflowed to the dining room.

For one day and evening care is to be forgotten. Optimism with a big "O" is to rule. The evening is given over to sociability, fun and some seriousness, no politics and yet all the candidates for office may be present.

The annual meeting of the East Michigan Tourist Association and of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau has become an event, four to five hundred members and prominent guests from all parts of Michigan attending for the election of officers, general business and the social get-together.

The two organizations number many hundred members. The annual meeting is the opportunity for the exchange of ideas, discussion of policy and factors affecting the organizations and the members, and planning activities for the future.
The business meetings are held at the Log Office at which time officers are elected, the board of Directors being composed of one or more directors from each and every county qualifying for membership.

Both the Development Bureau and the Tourist Association are incorporated

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, September 2, 1909

Mrs. Robert Dyer of Esquimaux was in the village the last of the week, shopping and visiting.

Delevan Smith has accepted the position of janitor of the school building for the ensuing year.

Bernard Christenson of Beaver Creek has gone to Flint to accept a position at the Buick auto factory.

Ed. Sorenson was home from Michigan over Sunday to visit his family and friends. He has his new store completed and will receive his stock and open for business this week.

W. Woodfield and wife spent most of last week visiting the kids at West Branch, only we imagine William was equally interested in the races, which are reported as being of the best.

Mrs. James Mulhull of Owosso was a very pleasant visitor in our city for a few days last week, being the guest of Mrs. L. T. Wright and Miss Carrie Jorgenson. Her visit, although short was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Robinson were made glad this week by a brief visit with their daughter, Mrs. M. J. Phillips of Owosso. Mr. Phillips has been making a tour of the state with the Michigan rifle team, of which he is a member.

After a year's visit with her mother Mrs. D. McKay and Mrs. Effie E. Leighton, her sister, Mrs. Nettie E. Stannard has returned to her home in Salt Lake City.

Died—At the family residence in this village, August 31, Emma S. Humm, aged 68 years. Emma S. Humm was born in Dayton, Ohio, March 21, 1856, and was married to John F. Humm, Sept. 2, 1881. They resided at Frederic in this country for several years before coming to Grayling, where they have resided since 1885.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler arrived here on the excursion train Tuesday, and are the guests of E. Clark and family.

The new liquor law which went into effect yesterday, seems to meet the approval of the better class of liquor dealers throughout the state, and in many places in this county. All of the dealers have agreed to keep within the technicalities of the law; that Sundays and Holidays and proper hours shall be strictly observed as well as the other mandatory provisions of the statutes. The people of the county demand it. Many who oppose the local option movement, believe the enforcement of this law will be better for all concerned.

Miss Lottie Owens returned from Grayling Tuesday, to Lovells.

Charles Kissam of Lovells is on the sick list. He is improving under the care of Dr. Knapp.

Mrs. Houghton and Mrs. Schram were calling on Mrs. Carrier Wednesday.

GEORGE WASHINGTON AS A FARMER IS STATE FAIR EX- HIBIT SUBJECT

Paying tribute to the first President of the United States for his good farming practices and contributions, a bicentennial exhibit, "Our First Scientific Farmer—George Washington," is being sent to the Michigan State Fair at Detroit, September 4 to 10, by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

With this exhibit the department appeals to the farmers of the country to follow the principles and practices of good agriculture, some of which were advocated by George Washington and which are considered as fundamental today as in his time. He did much valuable work in crop diversification and rotation, in the introduction and improvement of plants and animals, and in the keeping of farm accounts.

Probably every man, woman, and child in America knows George Washington as a great soldier and statesman; but while he was "first in war and first in peace," he was also first in agriculture. From his diaries one gathers that the periods of service rendered to his country he regarded as unavoidable interruptions to the life he loved. In his mature years he wrote to a friend about the life of a husbandman, saying, "it is honorable, it is amusing, and with judicious management it is profitable."

The central feature of the exhibit is a model of Washington's home at Mount Vernon as it appears today, and grouped around it are the occupants of the estate as they might have looked in Colonial times. Other models arranged on a revolving belt move across the yard and give a picture to the scene. There are models, too, of the livestock raised by Washington. These include mules, sheep, and a yoke of oxen hitched to a barrel drill or seeder, the plan of which he devised to save the labor of seeding by hand.

In the management of his farms Washington was not satisfied to follow the customs of his day. He was a tireless searcher for new and better methods. So persistent was he in this work that Mount Vernon might almost be called the first agricultural experiment station. He experimented with seeds, fertilizers, plant diseases, the grafting of trees, the improvement of farm machinery, and the production of better livestock. Without the aid of any State agricultural college, or the Federal Department of Agriculture, Washington developed his own knowledge and conducted his farms in a scientific way. Through his publications the Department of Agriculture offers the latest information on these subjects. Samples of many of them are on display in the exhibit, and may be examined there.

A reproduction of the Washington coat of arms is included in the exhibit, and a group of flags showing the evolution of "Old Glory." The exhibit is further supplemented by a special phonograph record which brings to visitors the story of this great landowner and best farmer.

Banker Turns Clown

Harper Joy, vice president of an investment bank of Spokane, Wash., always liked the circus, so when his vacation time came he joined one as a clown and spent two weeks under the big top, having the time of his life. Here is Mr. Joy in his makeup.

FOREST FIRE DAMAGE

It pays to prevent fires in forests and woods. Foresters measured tree growth for 13 years on two plots of longleaf pine in North Carolina, one plot being burned over each year and the other being kept free from fire. The trees on the fire-protected plot grew 19 per cent faster in height, 9 per cent quicker in diameter and 22 per cent faster in volume.

Snakes

There are approximately 2,000 different kinds of snakes. They range in size from five inches to the huge tropical reptiles of forty feet. They inhabit all regions of the globe except the polar. Animal life is their chief food, but some exist on eggs. Most species reproduce by laying eggs, although some give birth to their young.

Mrs. Asa McFarland and son of Bay City camped at the Tourist park last week and picked berries in this vicinity. The McFarland family formerly resided in Grayling. Mr. McFarland being employed by the M.C.R.R. They are now the parents of 12 children.

Word from Los Angeles, Calif., tells of the death of Miss Marian Tyler, age 32 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tyler, formerly of Grayling. Mrs. Tyler will be remembered as Amanda Grotzau. About four years ago the young lady's farce passed away on the eve of their wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Short of Detroit were on their way to Grayling Saturday evening to enjoy a fishing trip, when near Flint they met with an auto accident, and were taken to Hurley Hospital in Flint, where they are both in quite serious condition. Mrs. Short was formerly Hilda Peterson.

Mrs. James E. Richards and son James E. returned to their home in Dayton, Ohio, Monday after a very pleasant summer spent at their cottage at Lake Margrethe. The Richards enjoyed having as guests this summer Miss Elizabeth Rupel of Washington, D. C., and Miss Maud Rupel of Dayton, O.

Mrs. A. J. Joseph, and daughter Mary Jane, accompanied Mrs. Louise Connine and daughter Mary Gretchen to Detroit Friday. Mrs. Connine and Mary Gretchen spent the week end in Birmingham, where they attended the wedding of Miss Jane Wall, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Wall. Mary Jane Joseph remained for the week, while the rest of the party returned home Sunday.

A confidential bulletin issued by the Michigan Press association warns that "The woods are full of advertising solicitors out to get money from your merchants." They often use the name of the local print shop to put over their stuff and most times the advertising value of their stuff is of little value and the promoter gets about 90% of the money and ducks. The bulletin warns against taking on any of these promotion stunts. The printers get their pay but the merchants usually pay a long price for an advertising service that is of doubtful value.

In Ripley's cartoon "Believe it or not" that appears in the Detroit Times daily, the picture of the gentleman Z. Wilcox with the beard several feet in length that appeared one day last week, at one time made a visit in Grayling. He was a brother of John Wilcox and about 26 years ago visited his uncle Mrs. Ruth Oaks here, who now resides in Flint. When Mr. Wilcox last visited Grayling his beard measured 10 feet 3 inches in length and photographs were taken of him by the late James Wingard at that time and reproduced in the Detroit Times and other periodicals. At the time the old gentleman left Grayling he hinted that he intended to make some money exhibiting the growth of beard. Mr. Wilcox's home is in Carson City, Nebraska. Ripley's productions are supposed to be true and without a doubt this one is.

Miss Lucille Collins left for Detroit Sunday evening to spend a couple of weeks visiting relatives and friends.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Green had as their guests over the week end Dr. William Anderson, and Miss Helen Green, of Bay City.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Barber and children of DuRand spent the week end visiting Mrs. Barber's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Biggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burden Sr., and daughter, Donna, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burden, Jr. and little daughter, Lillian, returned to their home in Detroit after having spent the summer at Lake Margrethe.

Grayling Laundry employees and their friends enjoyed their annual picnic at K. P. Lake last Sunday and numbered between 25 and 30 people who enjoyed the day's outing very much. One of the high spots of the day was the ducking of "Fuzzy" Reynolds, who drives the Laundry delivery truck by the force of girls from the laundry, and they did it in fine fashion. A fine fish fry was furnished and fried by the Oldtimer Lloyd Jennings and this made the picnic dinner a complete success and it was enjoyed to the utmost. The party lasted until darkness settled down and then all departed for their homes thanking Mr. and Mrs. Holger F. Peterson for giving them such a nice party.

Herbert E. Marshall of Mt. Pleasant has just completed the erection of a fine new cabin on the AuSable river at what is known as "Cold Springs." Mr. Marshall is on the faculty at Central State Teachers college, Mt. Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Skelton, Mrs. Charles Merz, and son Charles Jr., of Pontiac, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jerome and family a few days last week. Miss Ella Louise Skelton remained for a longer visit, the guest of Miss Betty Jerome.

Miss Francisella Failing, of Dayton, Ohio, is spending a couple of weeks visiting her father, Allen Failing, and friends. She is a guest at the summer home at Lake Margrethe of her aunt, Mrs. A. H. Wetz, with whom she makes her home in Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Dye, who have been making their home in Grayling for the summer are returning in a few days to their home in South Miami, Florida. Mr. Dye has been on the job as Ford salesman at George Burke's Ford Sales and Service.

Ladies of the Golf Club Auxiliary and their friends are invited to a luncheon at the summer home of Mrs. G. A. Kraus at Lake Margrethe Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. The affair is a benefit for the Auxiliary and there will be a charge of 25¢ per plate. Following luncheon there will be cards and prizes.

Miss Lois Kraus and Albert Kraus are entertaining a company of guests from Chicago who include Misses Virginia Pendleton, Emily Fichter, Shirley Still, Louise Martin, and Richard Fichter and Tom Walker. They are at the G. A. Kraus summer home at Lake Margrethe, and will remain for the week.

Camp Swastika on the AuSable made an ideal place for the farewell party given by St. Mary's Altar society last Thursday for Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Letzkus. The surroundings of the camp are beautiful and it is one of the pretty spots along the AuSable river. Large bowls of wild flowers served as centerpieces for the three large tables where 30 ladies and gentlemen enjoyed a fine pot luck dinner. Mr. and Mrs. David Kneff are the caretakers at Camp Swastika and were the hosts for the party. Mrs. Letzkus was presented with a gift from the Altar Society.

"Our Gang" met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Paul Feldhauser and 16 members responded to roll call. The afternoon was spent in visiting as this was a birthday party for Mrs. Carlton Wythe. During the afternoon a penny prize was given to Mrs. Wilbur Broadbent and a birthday gift from the club was given to Mrs. Carlton Wythe. A very nice lunch was served by the committee. Mrs. Rudolph Feldhauser was a guest of the club. The next meeting of "Our Gang" will be at the home of Mrs. Dewey Palmer on Sept. 1st. This will be a birthday party for Mrs. Paul Feldhauser, Mrs. Frank Serren and Mrs. Kenneth Chase whose birthdays come in September. The birthday cake is to be made by Velma Barger.

Ben Landsberg of Inkster was in Grayling Sunday calling on old friends.

Miss Mildred Smith, of Saginaw arrived Tuesday to spend a few days visiting Miss Ruth McNeven.

Mrs. T. P. Peterson and daughters are spending the week in Vassar visiting her mother Mrs. C. M. Ross.

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred C. LaBine and family returned to their home in Detroit Sunday after spending the summer at the Alfred Hanson cottage at Lake Margrethe.

Grayling Chapter O. E. S. No. 83 will hold their annual picnic at Shaw's Park on Thursday, Sept. 8. The affair is pot luck and the Roscommon Chapter have been invited to spend the day there also.

Grayling Giants are scheduled to play baseball with Lewiston Sunday and Labor Day, when Lewiston will stage a celebration for the two days. If you haven't anything else in view drive over to Lewiston for Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Freeman and daughters, Betty Jane and Virginia Ruth, left for their home in St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, after spending several weeks at Linger Longer, with Mrs. Orlo Shreve, Mrs. Freeman's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beckman are spending a week at the home of Mrs. Beckman's mother, Mrs. Frank Jennings. They will return to Detroit Wednesday where Mrs. Beckman will receive her appointment as cook in one of Detroit's intermediate schools.

Since the canoe carnival a boat landing has been constructed at Stephen's Bridge and one is to be built at the Wakley bridge also. These are just what have been needed for some time by canoeists and they will be appreciated very much. James McDonnell had charge of the work.

Mrs. H. A. Bauman entertained eighteen guests at a very delightful lunch on at the Hanson dining hall Saturday afternoon for her daughter Mrs. Walter Woodson, of Salisbury, N. C. Guest prizes were received by Mrs. Hutton of Rochester, N. Y., Miss Mason and Miss Simmons of Detroit, and Mrs. Woodson. High score for bridge was held by Mrs. Carl Mickelson.

Mrs. Lorane Sparkes submitted to an appendix operation at Mercy Hospital Tuesday morning and is getting along nicely.

Miss Marie Brown accompanied Mr. Luther Herrick and son, Gerald, to Flint and Detroit last Saturday to spend several days.

Frank Murphy of Detroit visited over Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Laurant, enroute from the Soo to his home.

Miss Anna Nelson returned to Grand Rapids, Wednesday after having spent the month of August visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Nelson.

Farrall Gorman returned from Fort Sheridan, Ill., Tuesday, where he had been attending the Citizens Military Training camp for the month of August. He was accompanied home by Bill Rolston of Detroit, who had been attending the camp also.

Don't forget the Farmers and Oldtimers picnic at the Beaver Creek town hall next Sunday. Go and take your family and friends, and stay all day. There will be dancing and sports of all kinds. This is an annual affair and always enjoyed by a large crowd of people.

Mrs. Anna Currier and son, Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muhr, of Detroit arrived last Thursday to visit relatives here. Lewis and Mr. Muhr left Sunday, while the ladies remained for a longer visit. Mrs. Muhr was formerly Nettie Niederer and Mrs. Currier, Anna Niederer.

Mrs. Walter Woodson of Salisbury, N. C., was guest of honor at a very lovely bridge party given by Mrs. Eberhart Hanson Tuesday afternoon. Five tables were filled for the game. High scores were held by Mrs. Marius Hanson, Mrs. George Alexander and Mrs. Woodson.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Golf Club, their families and guests, enjoyed a fine corn roast and supper on the veranda and grounds outside the clubhouse Wednesday evening. The supper was given to raise funds for the auxiliary. Before the supper a two-ball foursome tournament was held resulting in Miss Thomas and Mr. Wilhelm Rase having the low gross score of 46. This was one of the pleasantest affairs of the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Goodrick of Flint are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dave White.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pickett, and family returned to Allegan, Wednesday morning after having spent some time at Lake Margrethe.

Mrs. Einer Rasmussen and children Betty, Shirley and Earl, of Marquette, have been spending the past couple of days here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gierke.

Phil Rich, managing editor of the Midland Republican, started on a canoe trip down the AuSable river Wednesday morning. He was one of the many outsiders who participated in Grayling's canoe carnival on the AuSable August 14th, and this trip is the culmination of a desire for more. Mr. Rich is an outdoor enthusiast and writes a weekly column in the Republican in which he signs himself as the "Old Woodsman" and he is fast becoming known about Michigan by that non de guerre. Dan Stephan, who handled the canoe for him on the carnival trip, did so well that he was selected again as guide. They will follow the AuSable as far as Mio and will be out until Sunday. We shall look forward to a most interesting write-up of this trip in next week's edition of the Midland Republican.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Mayor Walker Presents His Defense—Progress of the Mid-West Farmers' Strike—Business Conference Opened by President Hoover.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

MAYOR JAMES J. WALKER opened his defense before Governor Roosevelt, and numerous witnesses were called to testify to the purity of his actions and motives. At the beginning of the week Walker's chief counsel, John J. Curtin, closed his plea to Supreme Court Justice Stanley to halt the removal proceedings, and with what seems to be his usual lack of tact wound up with the statement: "We can only go to court to avoid a physical conflict that might well come if a removal order were made without jurisdiction." Henry Epstein of the attorney general's staff challenged the authority of the court to limit the governor's power.

The mayor's first witnesses were the members of the city tax board of control, one of them being L. F. Lores, president of the Delaware and Hudson railroad. He and his colleagues testified that Walker did not attempt in any way to limit the number of cabs after the bond transaction with J. A. Sisto, which is the basis of one of Mr. Senn's most serious charges. Four independent taxicab operators were called and swore the board of control had not tried to create a monopoly for the larger companies.

Paul Block, the newspaper publisher, was a loyal and stubborn witness for the mayor. Concerning their joint stock account, he testified that each took $102,000 from it in one year, and he told the governor that he never entertained the thought that his personal or business friendship for the mayor might be used to trade for "favours." Governor Roosevelt's questioning brought forth illuminating testimony regarding $140,000 that Mr. Block had put into the manufacturing concern in which Senator John J. Hastings, another of the Walker group, owned a large interest. It was brought out that none of the five ever was sold to the city. It was also shown that if the plan to manufacture the tile had not been dropped the city would have been interested in the product.

Walker's claim has been that the entire investigation was inspired by the Republicans to embarrass the Democratic party in the November election. In the attempt to bolster up this claim he summoned eight Republican state leaders, at the head of the list being W. Kingsland Macy, state chairman.

The governor, however, blocked this move by refusing to hear testimony regarding the motives of the legislators who ordered the investigation that resulted in the charges against the mayor.

The hearing has taken much more time than had been expected, so the governor decided on night sessions.

ALFRED E. SMITH, national leader of the Democratic party, is now an editor. When the Outlook, now re-named the New Outlook, resumes publication on October 1st will be filling the editorial chair, once occupied by Theodore Roosevelt. In his announcement of the fact he said he would carry on the tradition of Roosevelt and strive to make the magazine "a platform for the free and liberal expression of progressive thought on the economic, civic and spiritual problems of the day." As to its political complexion he had nothing to say.

The Outlook, which suspended publication last spring, was recently purchased by Frank Tichenor, publisher of the Spur, Aero Digest and other magazines. It was founded by Henry Ward Beecher in 1869 and has included among its editors Lyman Abbott as well as Theodore Roosevelt. Four years ago it was combined with the Independent, which was founded by H. O. Bowen as an anti-slavery organ.

FARMERS of the Middle West were meeting with considerable success in their "strike" designed to force produce prices to higher levels. The movement, which started in Iowa, spread to other states, and two victories were scored in Nebraska where milk producers gained higher prices. At Omaha officials of the Iowa-Nebraska Co-Operative Milk association announced to pay $2 per hundredweight for milk, compared with a previous figure of $1.45, while at Lincoln milk dealers agreed to pay $1.90, an increase of 40 cents over the previous figure.

More than 1,000 agriculturists were assembled in camps along the main highways leading into Omaha, but there were reports that some of the strikers were in a dispute as to the best method of enforcing the farmers' "boycott."

Despite warnings from federal officials, the farmers in several instances interfered with rail shipments of live stock in Iowa and Nebraska. Wisconsin and Minnesota dairymen were planning meetings to decide whether or not to join in the strike.

Tear bombs came into use at Council Bluffs, Iowa, when sheriff's deputies employed them to scatter a crowd of 1,000 farm "strikers" and spectators who were blocking a highway. Each trucker en route to market was given a deputy escort and no violence resulted.

WHEN the White House conference on business and industry opened Friday with more than one hundred prominent men in attendance, President Hoover started the proceedings with a statement outlining the scope of the policy. He proposed several specific lines of action. One was to bring about increased employment and includes the five-day week, though Mr. Hoover did not recommend its adoption universally. A second deals with easier and cheaper credit for certain industries that have not benefited by the loosening up that already has taken place. A third proposition is to seek better credit facilities for marketing of farm products and live stock, both in the United States and abroad.

Other speakers of the opening day were: Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. C. G. Mayer of the Federal Reserve Board, Chairman Atlee Pomerene of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Secretary of Commerce, Ralph D. Chapin, Chairman Franklin W. Fort of the home loan bank board, and Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner.

It was decided that small committees should handle each specific problem of economic inertia, and that after the close of the conference the plans it may develop shall be given effect by local subcommittees.

Officials predicted that as a result of the conference a central or executive committee will be formed to include the biggest bankers and business men of the country. This body, they pointed out, may unify the activities of the business and industrial committees of the 12 federal reserve districts, and become the spearhead of the recovery drive.

SOUTH TRIMBLE, clerk of the house of representatives, made good his promise and gave to the public a statement of the transactions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation from July 21 to July 31 inclusive. During those eleven days, the directors of the corporation authorized 437 new loans aggregating $45,067,550, and increases of former loans totaling $1,653,500 to banks and other credit institutions and to railroads. The total so loaned was $46,721,050. Later it was revealed that some of the loans authorized to banks had not been drawn upon.

Chairman Steagall of the house banking committee said he believed the publicity given the loans would tend to strengthen the confidence of depositors in the banks concerned. Mr. Trimble was accused by Congressman Treadway of Massachusetts of acting as he did in order to gain favor with Speaker Garner, who advocated publicly for the reports. In reply the house clerk said this charge was ridiculous and that he acted on the legal advice of his son, who held the law gave him no discretion in the matter.

CONGRESSMAN SHANNON'S committee investigating the results of federal competition with private concerns in business went to South Bend, Ind., and there heard a lot more complaints against Uncle Sam as a trader. Manufacturers, business men and representatives of various industries declared they were being pushed to the wall through competition from government boards and bureaus that are financed by taxpayers' money. Their wall was presented by the Federation of American Business, and the lines of competition ran all the way from pickins and rubber stamps to department stores, wheat, coffee and cotton.

The Association of Railway Executives presented a brief attacking the inland waterways corporation, the government barge line that operates on the Mississippi, Illinois and Warren rivers. The railway men argued that the government should get rid of the barge line as an unfair competitor of the rails.

Manufacturers in Illinois presented a brief giving specific cases in which competition by the government is reducing their business, cutting into the normal revenues, reducing their pay rolls and number of employees, mean while piling up the tax burden. One item of complaint is the growth of prison industries.

F. THURMAN DAVISON, assistant secretary of war, has announced that he is a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination of the New York state Republican convention. The announcement followed formal notification to him that the executive committee of Nassau county Republicans had adopted a resolution proposing him the candidate of the Nassau county Republicans.

PROSPERITY for civil war in Germany were heightened when a court at Barmen, Upper Silesia, sentenced five National Socialists to death in connection with the killing of a Communist. Seven other Nazis were sentenced to prison at hard labor. Immediately Adolf Hitler and his followers arose in angry wrath, denouncing the sentence, Chancellor Von Papen and the entire government of the reich and demanding pardon for the five. There were riotous demonstrations in Barmen and other places, with attacks on Jews and Socialists, and the police and more conservative Nazi leaders had a hard time curbing the enraged Hitlerites.

Hitler issued a statement declaring the condemned men to be "martyrs" and assuring them that their freedom "from this minute is a question of our honor." He added: "It is our duty to battle the government which made this monstrous blood sentence possible. Heaven may send us torture upon torture, but the National Socialist movement will soon be able to finish this ghoulish government led by Von Papen."

To meet the storm of protest and denunciation, the governments of the reich and of Prussia issued a joint manifesto that made it plain Von Papen's cabinet would not tolerate any revolt against the laws of the reich. It declared that the severest penalties would be invoked against "every criminal, regardless of person or party," and that the government would yield to no political pressure in considering the cases of the five condemned men.

PERHAPS the best piece of news of the week was the announcement by Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, that it would immediately spend $5,000,000 for replacements and new equipment. The expenditures are to be made in the corporation's plants in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Alabama and Pennsylvania.

"It would seem the buying movement cannot long be delayed," said Mr. Taylor, and his further remarks indicated that the directors of the huge corporation believe it is now safe for them to plan for better times in the industrial world.

On the other hand, a "sour note" is injected in the chorus of hope by a group of eminent engineers known as Technocracy who for more than ten years have been analyzing the American industrial and social system under the auspices of Columbia university. These men, using a yardstick called "energy production," have concluded that industry has reached the point of efficiency where further expansion is virtually impossible and where the creation of debt on an already overladen structure has passed its period of growth. They predict 20,000,000 unemployed within two years if a downward trend of basic commodities and services continues, and consider futile such efforts at reconstruction as the five-day week, the Reconstruction Finance corporation and low-cost housing schemes.

Technological efficiency, they hold, has increased production to such an extent that employment—no matter how many new industries are initiated—will continue its steady decrease from the peak of 1918, while the total debt claim against the physical equipment of all American industry has risen to "the fantastic figure of $218,000,000—a debt claim on posterity."

LONDON again hears that the prince of Wales is going to take a bride, and again the rumor is that the lady chosen is Princess Ingrid of Sweden. The prince is to open a British exhibition at Copenhagen on September 24, and he is to attend the wedding of Prince Gustaf of Sweden at Coburg on October 20. Between those dates, according to the unconfirmed story, he will pay a visit to Stockholm, and it is expected the marriage will then be arranged.

The prince of Wales was thirty-eight years old last June. Ingrid, a pretty blond, is twenty-two. She is distantly related to the prince and is a frequent visitor in London, where she is often the guest of the British royal family. She is also one of the most eligible of the princesses in Europe.

CAPT. JAMES A. MOLLISON of Great Britain put his little Moth plane down at Roosevelt field, New York, and went on record as the first person to make the solo flight westward across the Atlantic. His start was from Ireland and he landed first forty miles from St. John, N. B. He planned to fly back to Ireland as soon as the weather was propitious.
